Dear Professor Krzywosz-Rynkiewicz,

I would like to thank you for having submitted an application to the EUROCORES ECRP 2006 Competition. In response to this Call for Proposals, 26 eligible applications were received.

The EUROCORES Funding Agencies (EFAs) have made the funding decisions on the basis of an external, international peer review. Originality, added value of the collaboration, research design and expertise of the applicants were carefully assessed by the referees; this has meant that it took longer than expected to be able to inform you of the final decisions. I hope this delayed response has not caused you any inconvenience.

I am pleased to inform you that National Funding Agencies from Poland, Spain and Turkey have decided to fund your proposal. The Principal Investigators of your proposal will soon be contacted directly by their appropriate Funding Agency to agree on any specific conditions and finalise details in relation to national funding. The ESF Office acknowledges that you are now Project Leader of this CRP and thanks you and your collaborators for your swift reply.

I enclose, as a feedback, the referee reports on your proposal and hope you will find this information useful. Please note that the ESF is not able to enter into further correspondence concerning the outcome of the final selection. The list of awarded EUROCORES ECRP projects may be consulted for information purposes on the ESF website <http://www.esf.org/ecrp>.

The ESF will contact you later to discuss the progress of the research project.

We would like to congratulate you and your research team on the successful outcome of your application, and we wish you success in realising your objectives. Please note that you will be invited in due course to a Scientific Committee meeting, which has the aim to identify potential networking opportunities between CRPs selected in the ECRP 2006 competition.

Looking forward to meeting you there, I remain

Yours sincerely,

Dr. Frank Kuhn
